To the Director U.S. Mint if not too much trouble will you give me the short program of separating silver vein. I have discovered a silver mine perhaps not sufficient to ship the crude I want the recipe to take all substance from the pure metal. There is a black composition that when melted turns the metal black. What I want is something to make it white.

As I now want to go to work, not being expert in the business; As information is what I want and from you will be thankfully received chemically is the information that I want to receive.

Please oblige.

Yours Respectfully,
John Woodward
